Synopsis

Sassy, opinionated Shar Sinclair is passionate about the sea turtles she rescues in the Windswept Bay area and as needful of her freedom as they are. She's content with her life, helping run the family resort and looking out for the wildlife around her. But sometimes she wishes she had someone to share her passion, and passions, with. But that might mean giving up some of her freedom and she's not sure she could do that for anyone. Gage Landcaster is a self-made millionaire used to getting what he wants, but lately there's an emptiness and a restlessness to his life that he can't seem to fill. While visiting Windswept Bay, he spies a beautiful woman on the beach, struggling to rescue a sea turtle tangled in fishing line, and goes to help. Gage is captivated by the fire and passion that radiates from Shar and he knows instantly he wants her. But this may be one time when what he wants might not be an option. Sparks fly on the sunset beach and sparkling blue waters of the romantic Windswept Bay as Gage and Shar battle through their attraction. Gage is determined that this is one time he'll do whatever it takes to get what he wants. But can Shar open her heart to him? Can he convince Shar that love doesn't mean shackles...but a lifetime shared with the one you love?

Customer Reviews

Note: I received a complimentary copy for an honest review. Gage Lancaster has spent his life following in his father's footsteps - working and placing all his attention on the business. However, the sudden death of his father is making him reevaluate what's important in his life. He can't just continue as if nothing has happened. So, he abandons an important meeting and escapes to Windswept Bay where he can relax and figure out what to do next. So, when he sees Shar Sinclair desperately working to save a sea turtle, he begins to realize that there are more important things in the world besides business meetings. He also realizes that he wants to get to know this woman who displays such passion for a worthy cause. Shar Sinclair wants nothing to do with relationships. She's focused on saving endangered sea turtles and is convinced that a man in her life would pull her away from her life goals. However, why is she so amazed when a stranger rushes up to help her save an injured turtle? And, why does she keep thinking about him? What's wrong with her? As they get to know each other, Gage is convinced that she's the one for him. Yet, Shar wonders how he can honestly love her? Surely, she's simply a distraction from his grief and a means of escape from the stress of work! Can Gage convince her that his love is real? I enjoyed this story on many levels. I liked the life lesson that someone can pursue a personal passion such as saving endangered species and also have romantic relationships and love in their life. Not every relationship interferes and it won't if it's truly a loving relationship. Also, Gage is a great leading male character. He's strong and an imposing force in business, yet he's learning that he can step away and have a personal life as well.
