The Trip Back Home

Synopsis

These are the gifts brought across the ocean to Korea: Leather gloves. An apron with pockets like flowers. A book with pictures and simple words. What is given in return? Simple gifts like these--and so much more. Janet S. Wong invites us to join her on the trip back home, revealing that even when family members speak different languages, there is still much they can share.

Customer Reviews

A delightful story illustrated by a man, and his family, I met long ago at an art show. They are special people to me. I have his work hanging in my house. This is a nice introduction for a young girl or boy. They recommend ages 3 to 7.
